Transport without borders

On the way to our customers we work hard on their terms. Since the transportation influences the future performance of the animals, animal welfare and well-being is unquestionably at the top, from A to B. For an optimal result, our customers can fully rely on the experienced team of Haller, from the loading to the unloading of the animals.

All partners of our transport network possess the latest generation of animal transport vehicles. This does not only meet the current EU regulations but fulfills the highest standards for animal welfare. A variety of security devices, air conditioning and heated water are only a few of the advantages that ensure integrity and welfare during transport.

To make the way to the customer as short as possible, we continuously optimize our routes using GPS-guided navigation in all vehicles. The unbeatable advantage: we can announce the arrival of the animals with for half an hour. The timed unloading and stabling benefits the animals.

In the air and on the ground

All parties involved in the transport chain, from the well-trained drivers to the breeders are aware of their responsibility. We guarantee the efficiency and the quality of the transportation system with our name.

We care about the welfare of all animals that are entrusted to us. Our employees are trained to provide safe and professional handling at all times. With over fifty years of shipping experience, we transport thousands of animals, representing a wide variety of species, each year.

You can be sure that the Haller ensures the animals comfort and safety both in the air and on the ground. Haller ensures the maintenance of the quality standards during the transport. Only workers who have received proper animal-handling training, and understand their needs, should deal with animals during transport.

Challenge us! You will see: Haller launches!
